BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND REAL ESTATE DEVELOPMENT (MBRE)

The dual degree combines coursework from the graduate real estate and MBA programs to enable a student to complete both the Master of Business Administration and Master of Real Estate Development degrees with fewer total credits than it would take to complete the two separately and sequentially.

The Smith School of Business faculty has been recruited from the graduate programs of leading universities nationwide. They are world-renowned scholars whose teaching and research equips students with the wisdom of business scholarship rooted in the experiential lessons of the marketplace. In addition to mastering core functional business knowledge, Smith students develop sophisticated analytical skills and an "integrative" systems understanding of the way the functional aspects of organizations interact. Students learn how to leverage big data for better decision-making, and explore their career options in a tight-knit community that encourages intelligent risk-taking, not cutthroat competition.

Applications for the dual degree program will have their application assessed by each program individually, and may be admitted to one or the other, but not necessarily both programs. If both programs review committees agree to offer admission to their program than a student could proceed on the dual degree track.

For current students enrolled in either program, contact your applicable program director for directions on how you might proceed to enroll in the dual degree program.
