INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
(MAIR)

Graduate Degree Program
College: Behavioral and Social Sciences

ABSTRACT
The Master of Arts in International Relations (MAIR) is a 4+1 Combined Program that is designed to provide advanced coursework and applied quantitative methods training for students seeking careers as researchers in academia, as well as research analysts in the public and private sectors. The MAIR curriculum of 30 credits includes coursework in international political economy, international security, international law, and statistical methods of data analysis for international relations research questions. The curriculum emphasizes theoretical and quantitative empirical research in international relations. During the final semester, students will complete a capstone research project. The coursework will relate academic research to real-world events and their policy implications.

At this time, MAIR is open to students who are Government and Politics (GVPT) majors at the University of Maryland.
