Director: Patrick/Patricia Killion, Ph.D.

The Office of Undergraduate Research (OUR) empowers students and faculty to equitably and inclusively engage and succeed in inquiry, creative activity, and scholarship. OUR supports undergraduate students and campus partners through resources, programs, and services that advance the culture, presence, and community around undergraduate research and scholarly activities across UMD's campus. OUR's services seek to ensure equitable and inclusive access to undergraduate research opportunities for UMD campus partners and undergraduate students of all backgrounds and levels of experience. Additionally, OUR is working to develop additional opportunities for UMD undergraduate students to earn degree-advancing academic credit and emerging forms of novel credentialing.
