JEWSH STUDIES MAJOR

The Major in Jewish Studies provides undergraduates with a framework for the organized and interdisciplinary study of the history, philosophy, and literature of the Jews from antiquity to the present. Jewish Studies draws on a vast literature in a number of languages, especially Hebrew and Aramaic, and includes the Bible, the Talmud, and medieval and modern Hebrew literature. Yiddish language and literature compose an important sub-field. Courses offered by this department may be found under the following acronym(s): JWST, HEBR, ISRL, and RELS.

Program Objectives

The Meyerhoff Center and Program for Jewish Studies encourages research and provides instruction about the rich history and culture of the Jewish people from earliest times to the present day. Dedicated to the highest standards of scholarship, the program offers a wide array of courses in Hebrew Language and Literature, Jewish History, Bible, Rabbinics, Jewish Philosophy, and Yiddish Language and Literature. These courses form one of the largest undergraduate Jewish Studies programs in North America. In addition, the Jewish Studies program supports faculty research projects and organizes frequent academic conferences and lectures in order to bring the fruits of scholarship to a wider public. The Jewish Studies Program seeks to provide undergraduate majors with an appreciation for the interdisciplinary nature of Jewish Studies, understanding that Jewish literary texts, Jewish History, and Jewish culture and thought are, to a large degree, inseparable. Students are expected to master the Hebrew language and acquire facility in reading, understanding, analyzing, and interpreting texts both in Hebrew and in English translation. In addition, students should be able to pursue independent research and to argue coherently and persuasively in writing.

ADMISSION TO THE MAJOR

Hebrew proficiency through Intermediate Hebrew I is a prerequisite for the major, but students can declare the major prior to fulfilling this prerequisite and can take Jewish Studies courses while building their Hebrew skills. Many students may choose to prepare for the Hebrew requirement by studying Hebrew on their own or by enrolling in the University’s sequence of beginning and intermediate Hebrew courses.

PLACEMENT IN COURSES

The Foreign Language Placement Assessment in Hebrew is used to determine which Hebrew course students should enroll. For more information, contact hebrew-advise@umd.edu.

Language Prerequisites

Please Note: Students can declare the major at any time and take other Jewish Studies courses while they are working to satisfy these prerequisites.

- Hebrew language skills corresponding to the second-year level (HEBR211 or the equivalent)
- Students may meet the prerequisite through successful completion of the lower-level sequence (HEBR111, HEBR112, and HEBR211, or the equivalent). Students with a background in Hebrew will be placed into the appropriate course by the Hebrew faculty. Students with a strong background may be deemed to have satisfied the Hebrew prerequisites by the Hebrew faculty.

General Requirements

Majors in Jewish Studies complete three core courses and fulfill an additional four requirements for a total of 19 to 22 credits in General Requirements (credit hours for Hebrew language are flexible, as discussed below).

College Requirements (https://academiccatalog.umd.edu/undergraduate/colleges-schools/arts-humanities/#collegerequirementstext)
Jewish Studies Major

HEBR212 Intermediate Hebrew II
HEBR313 Conversation and Composition I

3xx or 4xx-level course that is taught in Hebrew

Hebrew Text course
Select any course in which texts are read in Hebrew

Research Seminar
JWST409 Research Seminar in Jewish Studies

Area of Specialization/Tracks
Select an area of specialization:

- Jewish History and Society (JH)
- Jewish Religion and Thought (JR)
- Jewish Literature and Culture (JL)
- Israeli Society, Politics, and Culture (IS)
- Hebrew Language and Texts (HL)

All Jewish Studies courses fall into at least one (and as many as three) of these areas of specializations. Students may petition to have courses count toward a particular area of specialization.

Electives
Select two Jewish Studies courses

Supporting Courses
Students take nine (9) credits in courses outside Jewish Studies

Total Credits

1 Any course in which texts are read in Hebrew. Students who have a sufficient background in other Jewish languages (such as Aramaic, Judeo-Arabic, and Yiddish) may fulfill the text course requirement through one of these courses.

2 Research seminars are taught on a variety of topics within the field of Jewish Studies; seminars are general and methodological in their perspective, designed to bring together interests across a variety of subfields of Jewish Studies. Whenever possible, students should take a research seminar that aligns with their chosen area of specialization.

3 In consultation with an advisor, majors select an area of specialization in addition to their general Jewish Studies coursework. Up to six credits of this area of specialization may be at the 1xx or 2xx-level or 3xx or 4xx-level, while the remaining nine credits must be at the 3xx or 4xx-level or above. All Jewish Studies courses fall into at least one (and as many as three) of these areas of specializations. Students may petition to have courses count toward a particular area of specialization.

4 Students take two Jewish Studies courses (6 credits) as electives toward their major. 3 credits must be at the 3xx or 4xx-level.

5 Students take nine (9) credits in courses outside Jewish Studies, of which at least six (6) credits must be at the 3xx-level or above. Supporting courses are determined in consultation with the advisor. They should provide context for the area of specialization.
