

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC POLICY

2101 Van Munching Hall
301-405-6330
<https://spp.umd.edu/>

Dean: Robert Orr
Associate Dean: Nina P. Harris

The school currently offers a Bachelor of Arts in Public Policy, as well as minors in Nonprofit Leadership and Social Innovation, Sustainability Studies and Public Leadership. Courses may be found under PLCY. These courses are suggested for students wishing to develop knowledge and experience in public policy and leadership. The school also offers a 5-year bachelor's/master of public policy program for selected students. For additional information on the wide range of undergraduate opportunities see <https://spp.umd.edu/your-education/undergraduate> (<https://spp.umd.edu/your-education/undergraduate/>)

Admission to the Major

First-time freshmen students who wish to major in Public Policy at the University of Maryland are encouraged to apply for admission to the university by the early action deadline of November 1. There is no separate application for our major and seats in the major are guaranteed as we are NOT a limited enrollment program.

Current University of Maryland students who wish to add the Public Policy major should contact our advisor at plcyundergrad@umd.edu for more information. Our major is not limited enrollment so all students are welcome assuming you have time to complete all the major requirements.

Advising

The Public Policy major has mandatory advising every semester. Academic advising is an ongoing process that helps students clarify their educational and career goals, and then chart a meaningful plan for achieving those goals. Advising is the joint responsibility of the student and the advisor. The advisor assists students in evaluating their degree progress and helps them select appropriate courses and other educational experiences tailored to their personal goals. Ultimately, students are responsible for making decisions, setting and meeting identified goals and published requirements. More information for students can be found here (<https://spp.umd.edu/info/students/undergraduate/>). Students can contact the Public Policy advising office by calling (301) 405-2370 or emailing plcyundergrad@umd.edu.

Opportunities Living-Learning Programs

Public Leadership Program in College Park Scholars

A living-learning program of the University's College Park Scholars (<https://scholars.umd.edu/>), Public Leadership explores the theory and practice of leadership, empowering students to become social change agents through hands-on public service projects and examination of pressing social, political and economic issues. Join a community of students from across the University who are committed to developing their leadership skills for the common good.

Specialized Academic Programs

Rawlings Undergraduate Leadership Fellows Program

Honoring the legacy of Howard Peters 'Pete' Rawlings and his decades of public service in the Maryland House of Delegates, the Rawlings Program provides students the opportunity to champion causes they are passionate about and advocate for those in the community that are underserved and marginalized. Combining mentorship, engagement with expert faculty and public leaders, and hands-on experiences working in the community, the Rawlings Program realizes students' commitment to ethical leadership and public service.

Financial Assistance

Senator John A. Cade Public Leadership Scholarship

Senator John A. Cade was one of Maryland's most extraordinary and exemplary public servants. As a member of the Maryland Senate from 1975-1996, his dedication to government, public service and education helped enhance the lives of his constituents.

'As much as any legislator, Jack Cade understood that it was education that made a difference. He was a champion for higher education funding throughout his career.'

--Senator Thomas V. Mike Miller, Jr.

This scholarship was created to honor the memory of Senator John A. Cade by enabling students to carry on his legacy of public service and leadership.

Eligible candidates must:

- be a current Maryland resident
- be an undergraduate student
- have a 3.0 GPA or higher
- have an interest in public service, government involvement, or political leadership.

Rosalie Reilly Gubernatorial Fellowship

Rosalie Reilly was one of Maryland's most extraordinary and exemplary public servants who was a role model for young leaders as they prepared to enter public life.

This fellowship was created to honor the memory of Ms. Reilly by enabling female students to carry on her legacy of public service and leadership. As a part of the fellowship, students commit to completing a project of significant impact to the community during their fellowship year.

Eligible candidates must:

- be available to serve at least 135 fellowship hours
- have an interest in public service, government involvement, or political leadership
- be a female undergraduate or graduate student
- have a 3.0 GPA or higher
